

VOICES IN THE WILDERNESS

filming

I will be making a film about this whole project, called, not unreasonably, The Making of Voices in the Wilderness, and it will contain clips from all the preparation work, the rehearsals, the workshops, the meetings and the creative elements.

I'd like you to film a few short clips of your class when they are working on this project.

Here are a few things to think about when filming:

Before recording turn the phone on its side and hold it steady.

If you do move the camera – move it very slowly.

Don't use the zoom function on your phone, move in to get a close-up.

Film in a brightly lit place, without too much in the background.

Keep the microphone close to the person speaking.

Avoid sudden loud noises.

Send me your film clips [WeTransfer is a good way to send large files] and I'll assemble them, along with all the other clips, into the final film.
